"Yankee Doodle" is a well-known American song, the early versions of which date to before the Seven Years' War and the American Revolution. It is often sung patriotically in the United States today and is the state anthem of Connecticut. Its Roud Folk Song Index number is 4501. The melody is thought to be much older than both the lyrics and the subject, going back to folk songs of Medieval Europe.

"Yankee Doodle" is an old melody of murky origins with many versions of humorous verses. During the French and Indian War of 1754-1763, the British sang one version to mock colonial Americans — but the Americans took ownership and turned the song into a one of patriotic pride, especially during the Revolutionary War.

The show-stopper was "The Yankee Doodle Boy (I'm a Yankee Doodle Dandy)," a sharp and snappy song that conflates Cohan, the title character, sentimental patriotism, bouncy melody, and march rhythm. The song has gone from being a hit in its day to being a standard in Cohan 's lifetime to a folk song today.
